

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Nature's Love Story.

We may laugh at love romances
And may scoff at truths they bear,
But when the sunbeams shine
On the fields of green and fair;
When the tuneful birds are singing In their plumage of cheer, And the moments all are bringing Something sweet to bless us here, Why, then, the time that we are here,
One word comes from above;
The best of life is merely
The old, sweet tale of love.

When She Comes.

As it is pink bloom dress the beauty wears;
Or gold, or green, or is it fleecy white?
All of these colors make her garments Rare, a clinging robe of wonder and delight.
She stands beside the newly running brook,
And throws a cloud of leaves upon each tree;
And some have vells of sheen and some of mist.
Ah! fair dream, speak to the world and me!

The woods look through their fingers at her face;
The sky smiles down a warm and trembling thing.
Who is this vision? sobs a flitting breeze,
"Joy!" she shouts, flinging wide her arms—"The Spring."
—Edith Livingston Smith, in the Delintor.

At the Woman's Club.

Miss Madge Freedley read a paper on "Beautiful Italy" at the Woman's Club Monday afternoon. Miss Freedley's most attractive theme was delicately and charmingly handled, her delightful descriptions of Italian scenery, being inter-persed with poetic quotations from the Etruscans, Byron and other poets. The Italian cities and their traditions and legends were touched upon, and the whole of Miss Freedley's "travel talk" was bright, entertaining and instructive.
At the reception Mrs. C. E. Wingo pour-trayed the hostess of the coffee table.
On Wednesday afternoon, at 5 o'clock, Dr. William Trent, of Columbia College, New York, will give the ladies of the club the pleasure of a talk on "Southern Writers."

Chairman's guests yesterday were Mrs.
Dallam Barksdale, Mrs. Albert F. Hunt, Admiral Webster, Mrs. and Mrs. George Freedley and Mrs. Neel, of Williamsburg, Va.

Mordecai—Robinson.

An engagement of much interest to Richmond people—that of Miss Champe Monroe Robinson and Mr. George Patterson Mordecai—has just been announced at a dinner party, given in the Baltimore Country Club, by Mr. J. C. M. Lucas.
Miss Robinson is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Monroe Robinson, who had their home for years in Richmond. She belongs to a family of beautiful sisters, and is identified with the most prominent social set in Baltimore.
The wedding will take place in June and after the honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Mordecai will live in the Green Springs Valley. Mr. Mordecai is a member of the A. G. Alford Company, of Baltimore.

The Belmont Villa.

The fact that Mr. O. H. P. Belmont has purchased land at Hot Springs, Va., and that a villa, placed so to command a splendid view through Dunn's Gap, of the Allegheny Mountains, will soon be in course of erection for the Belmonts, has caused quite a ripple of interest among the habitués of the Virginia Springs.

Other villas to be erected will be tenanted by Mr. George Gunton, of Washington, and Mr. Frank McCane, of Spray, N. C.

Talk at Excavations.

The members of the Jamestown Committee from the national organization, Daughters of the American Revolution, who visited Jamestown on Saturday last, as the guests of the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities, owed much of their pleasure to a ranging visit to the excavations on the island to the explanations given by Colonel S. H.
Yonge, who accompanied them and directed their attention to all points of interest.
His remarks making perfectly clear to the minds of his listeners the relative positions, strategic and historical, of the ancient State House, the country house and the Ludwell houses. The visitors were particularly attracted by the cellar in one of the Ludwell houses, and the old well that it contained.
Mrs. John B. Lightfoot and Mrs. E. V.
Valentine, Mrs. Caskey Cabell and Mrs.
George Bryan, of the Jamestown Committee, deserve the thanks of all who accompanied the visitors on the trip, for their great success in arranging for the visit and enjoyment of their guests.
Mr. and Mrs. Gullauden, Captain John F. Mayer and the officials of the Branden were most untiring in their efforts to render the day a flawless one in the pleasure it bestowed.
Jamestown looked its prettiest in honor of those who came to visit its shrine, the flowers, shrubs and fruit trees being in full bloom. The visitors expressed themselves as being greatly pleased, Miss Conways, vice-president of the Mount Vernon Association from Delaware, and the guest in Richmond of Mrs. C. B. Ball, saying that she would be able on her return to report what she had seen and known of the needs of Jamestown.
The visitors had agreed, before leaving Richmond, as to the work that the Daughters intend to do at the island.
That matter will doubtless be decided, however, before the meeting of the Continental Congress, on April 17th, or during its sessions.

MY OWN FOUR WALLS.

By THOMAS CARLYLE.

The portrait, biographical sketch and signature of Thomas Carlyle have appeared in this series.

THE storm and night is on the waste, Wild through the wind the herdsman calls,
As fast on willing nag I haste Home to my own four walls.

Black, tossing clouds, with scarce a glimmer, Envelop earth like seven-fold pall;
But wifekin waltches, coffee pot doth simmer,
Home in my own four walls.

A home and wife I, too, have got,
A hearth to blaze, whatever befalls;
What needs a man that I have not Within my own four walls?

King George has palaces of pride,
And arm-ed grooms must ward those halls;
With one stout bolt I safe abide Within my own four walls.

Not all his men may sever this;
It yields to friends' and monarchs' calls; My whinstone house my castle is—
I have my own four walls.

When fools or knaves do make a rout
With gismen, dinners, balls, cabals, I turn my back and shut them out—
These are my own four walls.

The moorland house, though rude it be,
May stand the brunt when prouder falls;
'Twill screen my wife, my books and me,
All in my own four walls.

LADIES' FANCY WAIST.

No. 3114—Fashion predilections all lay stress upon waists of the same color and if possible of the same material as the skirt. The one-color idea has taken such hold that in order to brighten a costume, dressmakers are adopting the plan of contrasting vest and cuffs.

The vest and trimming bands of the very pretty waist shown here, give the sleeves finished in a show length with a very rich effect, or it may be made entirely of one material.

The original was attractively developed in a soft fawn silk messaline with closures invisibly under one of the all-over lace.

The bands were of chameleon shaded tulle in the prevailing tints of the waist. The garment is fitted by means of the shoulder and underarm seams, and the trimming bands at the left side of the front.

If preferred, the trimming may be omitted from the upper sleeve portion and likewise the deep cuffs, and the sleeves finished in a show length with a deep fall of lace. The back of waist may be left blouse or may be drawn down to suit individual taste.

The pattern 3114 is cut in sizes 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust measure, and requires 2 1/2 yards of 36-inch material 1 yard of silk and 2 yards of lining for the medium size.

This pattern can be gotten from The Cohen Co. for 10c.

CAIRNS HELD UP NEAR FAIR OAKS

Saw-Mill Owner Murderously Attacked Near His Mill.

No arrest has been made in the Cairns assault case, although interest in the affair has in no way abated.
Mr. W. A. Cairns, a saw-mill owner, of Hanover county, about three miles from Fair Oaks, on last Friday visited Richmond to secure currency to pay off his indebtedness. On his return with $200 in small bills, he was attacked near the mill by some person, unknown, who struck him on the head with a club, knocking him senseless, and robbed him of the money which he carried in his pocket.

Mr. Cairns thinks that he was assaulted about 9:30 P. M., and it was not until 11:15 P. M. that he recovered sufficiently to stagger to the mill building and procure help.
His watch and a few pieces of money were found in the brook near the place of the assault, but the big roll of greenbacks had disappeared.

Mr. Cairns remembers that a man on a mule passed him some time before he was struck, but he does not remember what the man looked like nor can he say that he was the thief.

CAIRNS MAY BE INJURED.
Dr. A. T. Collins, who is attending the injured man, is fearful that there may be some injury to the brain, and says that some days must elapse before he can say his patient is out of danger.

It is the second hold-up in this same locality within a short while. Mr.
Humphrey Chase, an employee of the Locomotive Works, was held up, and robbed of $50 and now follows this later outrage.

The whole community is aroused and the local police are at work to discover the criminal.
It is said that there are mule tracks just beyond the scene of the outrage, going and returning. At any rate, the people are greatly wrought up, and all are determined that the miscreant shall be brought to justice.
